First Salt Laker to Return From Philadelphia.

TELLS OF THE DEADLOCK

GOV. WELLS WOULDN'T CONSULT WITH THE ALTERNATES.

The first of Salt Lake's delegates to reach home from Philadelphia is George Sutherland. Mr. Sutherland came in early yesterday morning. From his outward appearance principle. his outward appearance nobody would have thought he had gone through a long deadlock over a national committce appointment. The trip seems to have done him good, and he talked interestingly about it.

"Senator Brown, Mr. Hansen and myself, together with all of the alter-nates who were at the convention," he said, "opposed the appointment of Mr.

Kearns and Loose would contribute or had contributed $50,000 each to the Republican campaign fund. "It may have been intimated to Chairman Hanna," he went on, "that these three were wealthy mine owners and that if the executive committee did the right thing they would contribute largely to the fund. would contribute largely to the fund. Then, again, it may have been a fake out of whole cloth."

Sutherland Likes the Ticket. Speaking of the convention itself

Speaking of the convention itself, Mr. Sutherland, though an enthusiastic Roosevelt man, was not prepared to didnit that there was greater excitement over the nomination of the New Yorker than of McKinley. "It was practically settled when the convention assembled," he continued, "that McKinley would be renominated. Naturally, there wasn't as much exthusiasm under such conditions as there would have been under other circumstances. 'Roosevelt was nominated by the

SUTHERLAND AT HOME NOW AN EARTHQUAKE IS SPRUNG ON SALT LAKERS

Who felt the earthquake yesterday? Who felt the earthquake yesterday? There was a perceptible vibration lasting about one second in the Dooly block, but the phenomenon seems not to have been general. The attaches of the weather bureau felt the snock distinctly, fixing the time at 1:05 p.m. Four of the men connected with the office were in different mooms, but they all felt the vibration, at first believing a safe or some other heavy article had office were in different country and felt the vibration, at first believing a safe or some other heavy article had fallen on the floor below. ning the board of public works, the man of great influence with the mayor and the Republican members of the city council and the energetic director of the company which is surety on the bonds of contractors, came to a realization of the wisdom of smoothing down the friction between the engineer, himself and the board.

dom of smoothing down the friction between the engineer, himself and the board.

This squaring process was accomplished Friday afternoon at a conference between the engineer, the chairman and Mayor Thompson, called by the latter for the purpose of promoting harmony between the warring factions. Despite the denials of Mr. Dooly and the mayor, it is a fact that the board's chairman had the riot act read to him in a manner that he will remember for a long time.

At the meeting last evening the promise made by Chairman Dooly on the previous occasion to promote harmony between the board and Engineer Kelsey was redeemed. Every act was of acquiescence in the recommendations of the engineer. As a steering committee of one Chairman Dooly was a pronounced success.

Young's Resignation Accepted.

Young's Resignation Accepted.

Just as he had promised to do, Chairman Dooly saw to it that Don Carlos Young's resignation as inspector of the contractor's work on the distributing reservoir at the head of First South street was accepted. The accusation against the inspector was that he refused to let the cement mortar be mixed in the manner prescribed in the contract and specification, but wanted nis own way about it, which he considered preferable.

After the board had voted to the state will be refused to the state will be referable.

Soft Hats

After the board had voted to accept Young's resignation Engineer Kelsey arose to remark that he thought it very unfair that the board had let Inspector Young's communication about the engineer's criticism of his method of inspection of cement work go in the minute record in the way it did, since the communication contained statements which were untrue.

Could Not Muzzle Kelsey.

Could Not Muzzle Kelsey.

In the interest of harmony, Chairman Dools ruled that Mr. Kelsey was out of order, but the engineer would not have it that way. He had his say.

"You can write out your reply," said the chairman to Engineer Kelsey, "and it will go in the record."

"Mr. Young's communication is beneath my notice to reply to it in the way you suggest," answered the city engineer. "I have said what I wanted to say and that is all," was his parting shot.

The members hurried to adopt a motion to put the engineer's remarks in the record, that is such part as was taken to be a reply to Young's communication. Yesterday these gentlemen were driven about the city by a committee of local Y. M. C. A. workers, and were taken to the lake for a salt dip. In the evening they met the directors and a number of active members of the local association, and each of the visitors spoke briefly and earnestly on branches of the Y. M. C. A. work.

This morning Mr. McCoy will speak at the First Congregational church, filling Dr. Brown's pulpit at the morning services. Mr. Danner will speak in the First Presbyterian church, filling Dr. Paden's pulpit. In the afternoon at 4 0'clock both of these gentlemen will speak at the men's meeting in the Y.

The board decided to join the engineer in all notices sent to contractors on matters relating to their work.

It was resolved to order gate valves from local foundries for the reservoir. It had been intended to get hydraulic valves from the east, but there would not be time to get them here before the work is finished and the engineer said that the ordinary valves would answer the purpose.

Dividing River Water.

A meeting of the presidents of the canal companies taking water from Utah lake was held in this city yesterday afternoon to discuss the matter of measurements of water. Since the lake level has fallen a foot below compromise point, all of the canal people have felt that they were not getting a proper share of Jordan river's flow, but it was decided that the division of water should be continued on the plan of actual measurements and that a man should be kept at the points of diversion to see that the agreement is respected.
